18		메이페어	mayfair	[Consumer Goods] Household appliances and energy efficiency	Global Warming, Climate change, we've all heard about it, but we've actually experienced it on our skin years ago as a real. It was quite a big issue this summer season for certain countries.  Thus, many researchers confirmed that the market for cooling wearable is expected to increase as temperatures rise globally since many years ago. And, there are various papers researched that proved the neck cooling device is helping to drop body temperature (about 0.5%) and is capable of inducing reductions in thermal stress during strenuous exercise. Also, neck cooling during exercise improves performance in a hot environment. Wearable neck coolers have become mainstream options to help people cool down.  We met the Phase change material when we paid attention to the cooling market. And we revolutionary improved the deficits in traditional and conventional cooling products.	icicool Neckband	People get hot—in the summer, while they are working out, when out for a walk or run with their pet, while attending sporting events and concerts, or when they are at work dealing with extreme heat.  As extreme heat continues to get worse every year around the world, more people are looking for solutions other than air conditioners in their homes—which can be expensive and consume energy.  Cooling neckbands can provide heat relief for individuals who "run hot" or are prone to overheating, such as women with hot flashes, athletes, people outdoors or without air conditioners during the summer, and people in very hot climates (tropics, heat waves, etc.). For athletes, neck-cooling improves repeated sprint performance in the heat. Multiple studies have shown that athletic performance such as running time and distance increases after cooling the neck.  Self-foaming cleans up the pores!	Germany

31		스킨미소	Skinmiso	[Consumer Goods] Beauty	"Unlike many skincare companies who attempt to tackle multiple skin issues, we focus solely on pores which are, in fact, the key to healthy skin. We have spent the duration of our careers studying pores, how they work, and how to keep them healthy. SKINMISO is the result of years of research and hard-work, designed to not only clear your skin, but to also boost your confidence and help you live the life you deserve. Miso means "smile" in Korean. We are exporting more than 20 countries around the world."	Skinmiso Pure Vitamin C Serum	SKINMISO Pure Vitamin C Serum optimizes 135,000ppm (13.5%) of pure vitamin C to make it the most absorbable to the skin. You can use it with confidence as the content and ingredients have been verified by The Swiss Vitamin Institute, a Swiss vitamin expert. As it is based on water-soluble vitamins, it does not clog pores, so it can be used without burden on oily or sensitive skin. Instead of purified water, vitamin tree extract, which contains 200 times more vitamin C than apples, is used to help maintain skin condition. The double layer stabilizes pure vitamin C and safely delivers it to the skin without being damaged by sunlight, heat, or air. It is currently being exported to Spain, the Netherlands, Hungary, Poland, etc., and especially sold to COSTCO in Spain, showing high sales.	Europe

Korean Language Education Platform_Master K	[A platform that contributes to the expansion of the Korean language education and bridging the regional learning gap] Currently, the global fame of K-Culture continues, but in the field of education, there is a shortage of number in Korean language teachers, making it difficult to accommodate all the needs of learners who want to learn Korean. Since the traditional pedagogy for the Korean language education was by listening to a teacher's one-way class, taking tests, and doing homework offline, there was a severe limitation in space and time during the pandemic. However, along with the pandemic, the need for various educational pedagogies, including flipped-learning has also increased due to the increased demand for non-face-to-face classes and the development of education technology. To meet this demand, Visang Education has built an integrated platform 'master K', which can cover diverse pedagogies online. The platform not only provides real-time class but contents that can be used before and after classes.	Europe
